STALLION
EMIGRANT

WILL MAKE THE SEASON AT THE STABLE of SHERLOCK & BACON, in Portland. He will serve a limited number of mares at $50, the season commencing on the 15th of April and ending July 1st.

EMIGRANT is a beautiful chestnut sorrel, six years old this spring, stands 15¾ hands high, and weighs 1,112 pounds; possessing great bone, power and action, and is a model of symmetry. He is acknowledged by all judges to be the best stallion in the State, and CAN TROT FASTER than any other stallion in Oregon.

EMIGRANT was sired by Billy McCracken, he by McCracken's Black-Hawk, he by old Black-Hawk, of Vermont. His dam was Daniel Vincent's Messenger; she by Conkwright's Messenger, of New York.

Mares from a distance will find good pasture at $1 per week. All care taken to prevent accident, but not responsible for any. SHERLOCK, BACON & TITUS.

TUESDAY MORNING MAY 19 1863

Auction Sale.

M. Mansfield will sell on Friday morning at 10 o'clock a large stock of Assorted Merchandise. See advertisement.

By Telegraph.

Our dispatches this morning are brief and if true, of no great importance. Stonewall Jackson is dead again, if the Richmond papers can be believed. He was a brave, enthusiastic soldier, and sincere in his wickedness, verily thinking he ought to do many things against the Union, and he did them, much to our sorrow and loss. If he had been faithful and as earnest in his efforts for the Government as he has been in opposition to it, his fame as a patriot would have been as proud as that of his "Old Hero" namesake. But he dies, covered with the infamy and shame of rebellion.

The eloquent Irishman, Gen T F Meagher has resigned for some alleged indignity. That will be all arranged, however, as the Government will not wish to lose his influence just as the nine months' troops are about going home, unless they re enlist.

Gen Grant has had a sharp and successful skirmish near Jackson, in Mississippi, and it looks very much as if we should shortly hear of hot work in that region.

The telegraph correspondent, who hoaxed the people of this coast so abominably last week, makes a frank apology, which will we suppose, satisfy the readers that the fault was beyond him; but to the verdict of "not guilty," we cannot help adding "don't do it again."

Gen. Charles P. Stone

This officer, as is well known, was under arrest and closely imprisoned for many months, at Fort Lafayette, upon charges which have never been made known to him or to the country, even since his release from custody. As in the beginning of the war and for nearly a year, he had manifested distinguished ability and rendered signal service to the cause of the Union, his case excited wide spread sympathy and surprise, but he and his friends have waited patiently, confidently expecting that the veil of mystery would be removed, and the truth, when made known, would prove his fidelity to duty and his loyalty to the country.

The report of the War Committee vindicates him, and shows to the nation that a brave soldier, for some cause, at a time when his services and his military experience were greatly needed, was cruelly persecuted and disgraced, and that, too, under circumstances which hardly warranted such treatment except in case of the basest treachery, of which there could be no doubt. We do not think that the history of the world has upon its records a case of greater hardship, and we are sure that the time will come when the people of the United States will do justice to a faithful public servant, who has unrighteously suffered so much in silence while hundreds of those who have cheated, defrauded and betrayed them, have been honored and rewarded. The New York Tribune, which for a long time bitterly denounced General Stone, now says that:

> "The report on Ball's Bluff is elaborate and satisfactory on some important points, but incomplete on others. It does, nevertheless, contain the materials for arriving at a judgment on the serious question of the responsibility for that disaster. We have no space this morning for the full discussion which the subject deserves, but since we have been supposed by some of his friends to have borne hardly on Gen. Stone's share in the blunders of that day, we hasten to say that this report relieves him from much of the blame hitherto imputed to him, and that the Committee clearly intimate that in the matter of his arrest and imprisonment he has been unjustly dealt with."

RICHMOND TAKEN—IN CALIFORNIA.—Our Southern exchanges show that the good people of California went almost mad over the supposed capture of the Rebel Capital. Guns, bonfires, illuminations, bands of music, slathers of whisky and every other kind of liquid good or bad to drink, were the order of the day and night. All business was suspended while hearty congratulations and patriotic cheers were heard in all directions. Well, it tended to call forth and make audible the deep and earnest love for the Union which fills the great throbbing heart of the Golden State.

The Los Angeles News says that a party of men calling themselves Jeff Davis' soldiers recently robbed a man named Cox on Kern River, Tulare county, of some flour and horses. They boasted they would clean out all the Union men in the southern part of the State, and leave for Dixie. The News authority for the statement is Mr. Cox himself.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Henry F. Russell from San Francisco, a passenger in the Stage coming North, was taken suddenly ill at Eugene City last week, and though all possible care was taken of him, he died on Wednesday last at the Globe Hotel in that place. He left a wife and four children at San Francisco.

EUGENE CITY.—The Review says that the census recently taken of that village shows the following result: Men, 124; women, 124; boys 161; girls 144.

Our Army in Good Spirits

Operations on the Peninsula

End of the Richmond Hoax

NEW YORK, May 1[illegible].—[illegible] resignation [illegible] mind [illegible] justly styled as [illegible] the Irish Brigade.

The Herald says the Navy Department has [illegible] a few vessels of great speed. They will carry eight heavy guns and it is believed that they will be the fastest vessels of war ever built.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, May 12th.—The Richmond papers of yesterday announce the death of Stonewall Jackson on Sunday, from the effects of the recent amputation of his arm and pneumonia.

A large train of ambulances [illegible] day toward United States Ford [illegible] remainder of our wounded within the enemy's lines.

NEW YORK, May 11th.—Gen Hooker has issued a congratulatory address to his army, expressing his sense of the heroic conduct displayed by the officers and men during the arduous operations in which they had just been engaged.

CHICAGO, May 1[illegible].—The New York Herald has the following: West Point, Va., May 9.—A portion of the Fourth Army Corps, Major Gen Keyes commanding, reached this point after one o'clock Thursday night. Their troops are conveyed here in large transports convoyed by a fleet of Gen B[illegible]. The landing was undisputed by the enemy. Immediately on landing Gen Keyes ordered a reconnoissance up York river on the road towards the White House, the old base of the operations of our army last summer. It was discovered that all the track of the railroad from West Point to White House was recently repaired by the rebels, and that the railroad and bridges across the Pamunky were destroyed by our cavalry.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Special dispatches say that in the late raid of Gen Stoneman 100,000 bushels of corn were destroyed at Aylett's Station.

NEWBERN, N. C., May 11.—It is stated that the rebels refused to receive loyal citizens sent out of our lines except those who give security for their ability to take care of themselves.

CHICAGO, May 13.—From private telegrams since Saturday up to last night it appears as if the Government had determined not to [illegible] anything in regard to the movements of the Army of the Potomac to come over the wires.

It now appears as if the recent stories of the capture of Richmond and of the crossing of the army to the south side of the Rappahannock were all made out of whole cloth, so well authenticated and taken together so badly that I could do no less than send them to you. The army since its return to Falmouth has made no movement whatever, although the different correspondents are certain that Hooker will soon do something damaging to the rebels. Signed your [illegible].

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Secretary of War has issued orders that while the Army of the Potomac remains in its present position at Falmouth no passes shall be granted to persons to visit it with a view of obtaining the bodies of deceased friends.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—A special dispatch from Cincinnati to the Bulletin says that the rebel cavalry in front of Murfreesboro are constantly changing their positions. The rebel Gens Wheeler and Morgan with 10,000 cavalry are at Lafayette and Alexandria. It is supposed that they are meditating an attack on Nashville.

CAIRO, May 13.—Grant had a severe battle with the rebel Gen Bowen at Clifton, ten miles from Jackson on the railroad last Wednesday. Bowen was beaten and driven back.

The women and children are leaving Jackson and the men are preparing to defend the place.

It is expected that a large force of the rebels are coming from Charleston and Mobile to prevent the capture of Jackson and Vicksburg, and that Grant being apprised of their movement fell back to the river to await reinforcements.

NEW YORK, May 14th.—The Tribune has advices direct from the Army of the Potomac to Sunday, which confirms the first statement that no movement whatever has taken place since the return to the old camp at Falmouth. The troops are in good spirits.

NEW YORK, May 13th.—Sterling exchange firm and quiet at 164@165; gold quiet at 149@149½. Government stocks less active—Sixes of '81 [illegible] 10[illegible]; 7 30s 107.

A LETTER FROM THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—The [illegible] B[illegible] publishes the following extract from a letter written by an officer from whom six weeks before letters had been received in which he spoke sparingly of the future, that the troops were greatly demoralized, desertions were constant and numerous, and wound up with the declaration that the army believes in McClellan and no one else. He now writes as follows:

STAFFORD C. H., Va., March 27, 1863.

* * * The army is in the midst of preparation for movement, and when we once begin we shall have no resting point for many months. The army is full of hope and confidence, and I think when we do strike it will be a telling blow. There has been a reaction from the Fredericksburg gloom; the Copperheads are in the minority, and I have not seen them show themselves in any decided manner. An officer who has just returned from Western New York says it is too hot a place for deserters—public sentiment is too strong against them. We shall have hard fighting, and we shall whip them. The army is confident; all it wants is leaders who know how and have the wisdom to manage it, and we will show the world and particularly the rebel part of it what bravery and patience can accomplish.

I have gradually given up the [illegible] that Hooker is the man. He has already done great things since he took command. He has infused a strong spirit of pluck in the army—a better kind of spirit than McClellan ever had. He [illegible] dismissing officers from the service right and left when found incompetent, and is going to shoot [illegible] deserters [illegible] the 1st of April, when the President's [illegible] expires.—I hope and think I shall this year see a grand battle, and that I shall live to see the scoundrels run and carry [illegible] in the chase.

Five sixths of all the goods consumed by the rebel army and millions of dollars worth of English goods have been placed in the storehouses of rebeldom through Texas.

Great Sumter Meeting in New York

A great meeting was held in New York April 11th, the anniversary of the firing of the rebels on Fort Sumter. Several distinguished gentlemen spoke. The following letters were received by the Committee:

WILLIAM H. SEWARD

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Washington, April 3d, 1863.

[illegible], Secretary, etc., No. [illegible] Maiden Lane, New York.

Our armies are moving on with a step firmer than that of the Roman Empire or the French Republic ever maintained. Our fleets have surpassed in achievement those of any previous naval power. Our [illegible] abroad. All that remains now is to lift the nation's temper to the height and fix it at the point of [illegible] that [illegible] with a dropping and every [illegible] seduction or aggression from abroad. In order to [illegible] as in our Leagues [illegible] conquest as in the past. Of what importance is it to our country now whether a patriot citizen has been a Democrat or a Whig, or a Republican or Conservative, or Radical? [illegible] can say that he himself has never erred, or that his neighbor was not sometimes wiser than himself in questions of administration that have passed away forever? Let us ask each other no questions about how the nation shall govern itself, or who shall preside in its councils in the great future that is to open before us, [illegible] alternately in [illegible] sunlight—[illegible] may deserve the distinction [illegible] and energy to serve it, will come into place and power when this crisis is passed, and let the survivors of this [illegible] for themselves who is most wise and most worthy of their confidence.

Let us save the country, that is labor enough, and it will be glory enough for all of the actors of the present hour. It will [illegible] on the greatness of our honored forefathers. It will leave us nothing to fear for our posterity. I am very respectfully your obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. SEWARD

SECRETARY CHASE

WASHINGTON, April 8th, 1863.

Gentlemen: Imperative demands on my time compel me to deny myself the gratification of attending the meeting to which you kindly invite me.

You will meet to send words of cheer to our brave Generals and soldiers in the field, to rebuke treason in our midst giving itself the garb of peace and aid and comfort to treason in the panoply of war, to maintain [illegible] the integrity of the National territory and the supremacy of the National Constitution and laws, to strengthen the hands and nerve the heart of the President for the great work which God and the people have called him to.—For what other purpose can American citizens now assemble?

It is my fixed faith, gentlemen, that [illegible] mean that this American Republic shall perish. We are tried as by fire, but our country will live. Notwithstanding all the violence and the machinations of traitors and their sympathizers, on this or the other side of the Atlantic, our country will live.

And while our country lives slavery the chief source and cause and agent of our ills will die. The friends of the Union in the South before the rebellion, predicted the destruction of slavery as a consequence of Secession, if that madness should prevail.—Nothing in my judgment, is more certain than the fulfillment of these predictions. Safe in the States before rebellion from all Federal interference, slavery has come out from its shelter under State Constitutions and laws to assail the national life. It will surely die, poisoned by its own fangs and stings.

What matter now how it dies? Whether as a [illegible] or object of the war, what matter? Is this a time to split hairs? I give [illegible] it seems to me that Providence makes clear[ly] enough how the end of slavery must come. It comes in rebel slave states by military order, decree or proclamation, not to be disregarded or set aside in any event, as a nullity, but maintained and executed with perfect good faith to all the enfranchised, and it will come in loyal slave States by the unconstrained action of the people and their legislators, aided freely and generously by their brethren of the free States. I may be mistaken in this, but if I am another better way will be revealed.

Meantime it seems to me very necessary to say distinctly what it may be [illegible] from saying. The American blacks must be called into this conflict, not as cattle, not now even as [illegible], but as men. In the free States, and by the proclamation in the rebel States they are free men. The Attorney General in an opinion which [illegible] a refutation has pronounced these freedmen citizens of the United States. Let then the example of Andrew Jackson, who did not hesitate to oppose colored regiments to British invasion, be now fearlessly followed. Let these blacks, acclimated, familiar with the country, capable of great endurance, receive suitable military organization and do their part. We need their good will and must make them our friends; we must have them for guides, for scouts, for all military service in camp or field for which they are qualified. Thus employed, from a burden they will become a support, and the hazards, privations and labors of the white soldiers will be proportionally diminished.

Some one will object to this course. There are always objectors to everything practical. Let experience dispel honest fears and refute captious or [illegible] cavil.

Above all, gentlemen, let no doubt rest on our resolution to sustain with all our hearts and with all our means the soldiers now in arms for the Republic. Let their ranks be filled up, let their supplies be sufficient and regular, let their pay be sure. Let nothing be wanting to them which can insure activity and efficiency. Let each brave officer and man realize that his country appreciates him, and that his country's hopes hang on him, and inspired by this thought, let him dare and do all that is possible to be dared and done.

So, strengthened with the blessing of God we will make a glorious future. [illegible] how beautiful and grand.—There is not time to speak of it now, but from all quarters of the land comes the voice of the sovereign people rebuking faction, denouncing treason and proclaiming the indivisible unity of the Republic, and in the heaven inspired union of the [illegible] for the sake of the Union is the sure promise of that splendid hereafter. With great respect, yours very truly,

The only hope of rebellion now rests on the division [illegible] at the North [illegible] under the [illegible] In [illegible] He was [illegible] should be [illegible] tree and about eight feet from the ground [illegible] at laughter at [illegible]—and [illegible] hanging from [illegible] that is the way to treat [illegible] of the rebellion [illegible] There [illegible] He [illegible] his country if he is a man of [illegible] who attempts anything of the kind. This glorious meeting convinced him that the rebellion was doomed. [Cheers.] But these men are afraid that slavery may suffer in this war for the Constitution. He would not go out of the way to get rid of slavery, but you might as well expect to retain the wild game in a country after you have cleared it all off as to retain slavery after the war of revolution has passed over it. [Great applause.] The secessionists have done more in one year than the abolitionists have done in thirty. [Laughter and cheers.] The old Greek [illegible], who believed in transmigration, requested his friend to cease beating a dog, for he thought he recognized the voice of a deceased friend in its howl—and so some men do not want slavery disturbed because they think they recognize the howl of a deceased friend in it. [Great applause and laughter.] He would treat slavery the same as he would object to having a powder house in New York city, because it is liable at any time to blow us all to pieces. [Loud cheering.]

THE CONSCRIPTION.—The President has issued a proclamation concerning the Conscription Act, warning all persons that no plea of alienage will be received or allowed to exempt from the obligation imposed by Congress on any person of foreign birth who shall have on oath declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States under the laws thereof, and who shall be found within the United States during the continuance of the present rebellion, at or after the expiration of a period of sixty five days from the date of this proclamation, nor shall any plea of alienage be allowed in favor of any person who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States and shall have exercised the right of suffrage or any other political franchise.

To Consumptives.—Every sufferer from CONSUMPTION, whatever stage, should try Dr. Hall's BALSAM and prove for themselves [illegible] that this [illegible] can be cured, even if the symptoms are very discouraging. This medicine acts like a charm in allaying the Cough, and restoring health to the whole system.

GOOD TIME —The steamers Wilson G Hunt and E D Baker left this city together yesterday morning The former arrived at Vancouver about half a mile in advance of the latter, and we are informed kept ahead all the way up to the Cascades Returning the Hunt reached her wharf at half past two o'clock P M, one hour in advance of the Baker. We are not informed whether the boats were racing or not

LADIES SANITARY MEETING —The attention of all persons interested is called to the notice in another column, of a meeting of the patriotic ladies of Portland, to be held in the M E Church this afternoon

FOR VICTORIA —The bark Wm A Banks, Warren Bray, master, is advertised to sail for Victoria, as soon as her freight is discharged

CLOTHING —Read Pierson & Co s advertisement.

DAHLIAS —The attention of the lovers of flowers is directed to the advertisement Henry Miller, of Milwaukie

As much as $1,000 was paid for a seat in a window to see the Princess Alexandra s entrance into London

Irish potatoes for planting, are selling at Jackson, Miss, at the moderate price of $30 per bushel.

It now appears from the report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War that McClellan is responsible for the Ball's Bluff disaster, and not Gen Stone, as heretofore reported.

A Richmond paper contains sixteen advertisements for substitutes In one case $1,000 were offered. One advertisement offers $400 reward for the arrest of a substitute who deserted after getting his pay

It is proposed in the Canadian Parliament to set apart not less than 500 000 acres of the public lands for settlement by the operatives thrown out of employment in the mother country

The Prince of Wales has a clear capital of three millions of dollars, and a regular income of five hundred and fifty thousand dollars, to begin married life with He can afford to set up house-keeping

On the 12th March, Forts Henry and Heiman on the Tennessee river, were evacuated and destroyed by the Federal troops, as they are liable to overflow Their armament, stores, etc., were removed to Fort Donelson

Three millions six hundred thousand dollars worth of internal revenue stamps have been sold up to the present month Of this amount New York has purchased over a million, exceeding all other States California comes in next.

"Whenever our Government is assailed," said the lamented Senator Douglas, in his last speech at Chicago, May 21st, 1861—"when hostile armies are marching under rude and odious banners, the shortest way to peace is the most stupendous and unanimous preparation for war."

The great topic of conversation now in Italy, is Brigand Pilone, whose lair is near Naples where he levies contributions on a scale of terrible magnitude. The ransoms he demands are in many cases enormous A [illegible] pocket, when compared with some of the "road agents" who infest our mining regions.

It is the fashion at Court balls to carry [illegible] to its absurdity At one recently, two ladies appeared [illegible] forests, carrying about on their heads and bodies the most remarkable displays of shrubbery, birds, insects, flowers, [illegible] one case a living owl One lady [illegible] a tropical forest, which must have cost an [illegible] sum.

The frigate Niagara, at the Charlestown Yard, will be ready for service in a few weeks She has been completely metamorphosed, and will be no more like the vessel George Steers turned out than if she were built in Muda [illegible]. The fine old bulwarks are gone, and all the characteristics of a first rate vessel A single rail goes round the deck, upon which, [illegible] there will be a battery as usual. It [illegible] that when complete in her new [illegible] this ship will have cost the country $2 000,000.

Reminiscences of General Sumner

(From the N Y Tribune of April 9th)

WASHINGTON, March 23, 1863

Ten days ago Gen Sumner was here apparently in vigorous health Yesterday intelligence of his death sent through the Capital a thrill of surprise and regret Surprise that one who had braved the hardships of campaigning and the perils of battle for more than 40 years until he seemed to bear a charmed life, should be cut off abruptly by disease Regret at the loss of one so loved and honored

Major General Sumner was eligible for the retired list, having belonged to the army of the United States for 48 years but he was never one to eat the bread of idleness He entered the service from civil life and was free from West Point traditions and narrowness Senator Ben Wade once asked him, "General, how long were you at West Point?" "I was never there in my life sir," replied Sumner The bluff Ohioan sprang up and shook him fervidly by the hand, exclaiming, "Thank God for one General of the regular army who was never at West Point!"

During the early Kansas troubles, Col Sumner was stationed in the Territory with his regiment of dragoons Utterly unscrupulous as the administrations of Pierce and Buchanan were in their efforts to force slavery upon Kansas—embittered as the people were against the troops, mere tools of Missouri ruffians, their feelings towards Sumner were always kindly and grateful They knew he was a just man, who would not willingly harrass or oppress them, and that he sympathized with them in their fiery trial No State will mourn him more than young Kansas—worthy of the precious blood which baptized her—who, in this great struggle, bears away the palm from all her sisters, who has already contributed to the war 3,000 more than the Government ever asked of her, and who tolerates no treason at home

When the history of this war is faithfully written, Sumner's name will be one of the brightest in that noble army which has illustrated the discipline and valor of Northern troops on so many bloody fields, but which, through a leader infirm of purpose, never yet gathered the ripe fruits of victory At Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill he decided the fate of the day, and through the whole Peninsular campaign he was in the hottest, deadliest of the fighting

He had the true soldierly temperament Not only was his whole heart in the war, but if it is possible for any man to love fighting, to feel what the ancients called "the rapture of the strife," Sumner was that man. He snuffed the battle afar off He went into it with boyish enthusiasm Our Generals usually expose themselves not too little but too much If they participated less in the peril, they might often economize the lives of their men more, and yet achieve the same results But in this soldierly imprudence Sumner eclipsed them all. The chronic wonder of his friends was that he ever came out of battles alive, but at last they began to believe with him, that he was invincible He would get bullets in his hat, his coat, his boots his saddle, his horse, sometimes have his person scratched, but always escaped without serious injury His soldiers used to tell, with great relish, the story that in the Mexican war a bullet which struck him square in the forehead fell flattened to the ground without breaking the skin, as the hunter's ball glances from the forehead of the buffalo. It was this anecdote which won for him the sobriquet of "Old Bull Sumner" I think he desired, when his time should come, to fall in battle, but it illustrates the fortunes of war that the officer who for 40 years had thus courted death should at last die peacefully in his bed, surrounded by his family

At Fair Oaks, when his troops were staggering under a pitiless storm of bullets, Sumner came galloping along up and down the advance line, more exposed than any private in the ranks "What regiment is this?" he asked "The 15th Massachusetts," replied a hundred voices "I, too am from Massachusetts: three cheers for our old Bay State!" And, swinging his hat, the General led off, and every soldier joined in three thundering cheers The enemy looked on in wonder at the strange episode, but was driven back by the fierce charge which followed

This was no unusual scene; it was the way Sumner fought his battles Staff officers will tell you, by the hour, how when the guns began to pound, his mild eye would light up with flashes of fire, how he would take out his artificial teeth, which became troublesome during the excitement of battle, and place them carefully in his pocket, raise his spectacles from his eyes and rest them upon his forehead, that he might see clearly objects at a distance, give his orders to his subordinates, and then gallop headlong into the thickest of the fight

How many soldiers, as they read and talk of his death in their camps to day, recall the erect form, the snowy hair streaming in the wind, the frank face of that wonderful old man, who,

"In worst extremes,
And in the perilous edge of battle
When it raged,

would ride along their front lines, when they were falling like grass before the mower, encouraging the fearful and shouting through the smoke, "Steady, men, steady! Don't be excited When you have been soldiers as long as I, you will learn that this is nothing Stand firm and do your duty!"

For a man of 64, his health was marvelous His long temperate life in the pure air of the great plains of the mountains—a region of which he was enthusiastically fond—retained in his vigorous frame the elasticity of boyhood Upon a march he usually quite wore out his staff with hard riding When he left the field during the last days of January there were few officers of 25 as nimble and agile as he, few who could spring upon a horse more easily or ride with more grace and endurance

There was no straining of dramatic effect about Sumner He never advertised his exploits, or attempted Napoleonic proclamations and reports He sometimes displayed heroism which would illustrate the brightest pages of history but he did it unostentatiously, unconsciously It was the act of a soldier quietly performing a soldier's duty

At Fair Oaks on Saturday evening after Casey and Heintzelman had suffered greatly, and been driven three or four miles Sumner crossed the Chickahominy at an unexpected point, and attacking the enemy vigorously in flank and rear turned the tide of battle On Sunday morning the fight was renewed many gallant officers fell General Howard lost his arm at the head of his brigade and our triumph was gained at a heavy cost but Sumner held his advantage During a lull in the battle McClellan crossed the river remained long enough to write his famous dispatch censuring Casey's men and then succeeded in returning upon a log over the swelling stream Our bridges were swept away our army was thus cut in twain, and Sumner, with his three shattered corps, was left without hope of reinforcements The weakened half of our army was at the mercy of the enemy's entire force

On that Sunday night after making his dispositions to receive an attack Sumner sent for Gen Sedgwick who commanded his Second Division—one of his special friends and most trusty soldiers "Sedgwick," said he "you perceive the situation The enemy will probably precipitate himself upon us at daylight Reinforcements are impossible, he can overwhelm and destroy us But at this most critical period the country cannot afford to have us defeated The enemy may win a victory, but we must make a victory that shall ruin him There is just one thing for us to do, we must stand and die like men! Impress it upon your officers that we must do this to the last man—to the last man! We may not meet again, but we will at least die like soldiers

And so Sumner wrung the hand of his lieutenant and bade him farewell Morning came, the enemy failing to discover our perilous condition, did not renew the attack, in a day or two new bridges were built, and the sacrifice was averted But Sumner was the man to carry out his resolution to the letter

U. S. INCOME TAX.

THE LAW CONTEMPLATES THAT EVERY ONE shall pay [illegible] from any source whatever. A person is allowed [illegible] legally assessed National, State and [illegible] Tax [illegible] help Rents Drayage, &c necessary to carry on his business [illegible] has a right [illegible] his own labor as so much expense from his income

The Income Tax is to be paid [illegible] of the year commencing Jan'y 1st 1862 [illegible] that [illegible] the evening of December 31st 1862, everybody should make up a record of their income gains or profits for that year And as many sources of income [illegible] as Dividends and Railroad Bonds and Stocks Insurance Stock Savings Banks Interest &c (those having already paid the income tax) are not again taxed It therefore becomes necessary to have a clear record of the [illegible] income [illegible] that there may be no dispute with the Assessor

A corporation must deduct the three per centum before declaring their dividends

For Example:

A man [illegible] must make up the net profits of his business for the year, and pay the tax on the amount less $600

A man may [illegible] of his business spend all and even more than his profits in the business [illegible] who must pay tax on all [illegible] profits except the $600 And so with a salary all over $600 must be taxed, though personal or family expenses consume it all

The Income Tax for the year 1862 is assessable on the first day of May 1863, and is due and payable on or before the 30th June 1863. And any sums [illegible] unpaid for thirty days after the 30th June as aforesaid and for ten days after demand by the [illegible] five per centum will be added to the amount unpaid

Each individual [illegible] partnership must make up his income separately

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters (purely vegetable) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood-gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles and big bellied kegs under the modest appellation of Bitters, which instead of curing only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair

Hoofland's German Bitters!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN
PHYSICIANS,
and
CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev J Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr C M Jackson of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture I am indebted to my friend [illegible] [illegible] for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whisky, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters"

PHILADELPHIA, August [illegible]

Messrs Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R B Ayres Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital This was followed by great debility heightened by an attack of dysentery I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach Life could not last under these circumstances, and accordingly the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer frankly told me they could do no more for me and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr Frederick Steinbron of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it getting better Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian from the vicinity of Front Royal To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life

Very truly yours. ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life
